- Audit bills from the last session—track what passed, what died, and what may return.
- Refine talking points and prepare policy briefs or amendments for reintroduced bills.

3) Engage Your Legislators Now

- This is when they're more available and less under pressure.
- Schedule district office meetings, invite them to events, or build positive working relationships.

4) Submit or Suggest Model Bills

- Propose pro-liberty legislation or improvements to flawed bills.
- Partner with watchdog groups to refine citizen-drafted proposals.

5) Audit & Monitor Local Government

- While the state is quiet, city councils, school boards, and county commissions are still passing policies.
- Show up, review agendas, and build influence locally.

6) Clean Voter Rolls & Monitor Election Infrastructure

- Review voter rolls, contracts with third-party election vendors, or maintenance logs.
- Educate others on poll observing, canvassing, and public comment rules.
- Get to know your local election methods and regulations
- Send Open Records Requests to dive deeper (if necessary)

7) Grow & Mobilize Your Base

- Recruit and train new volunteers.
- Build email and text alert lists, local coalitions, or affinity teams (e.g., parents, business owners, veterans).

8) Plan Rapid Response Strategy

- Create a "session-start toolkit" so you're ready when bills drop:
  - Templates for calls to action
  - Testimony scripts
  - Fact sheets
